If your answers are mainly A:

You're identical to Amy!!

Like Amy, you're caring and put family first. You love going out with your friends and think that a boyfriend should be a soul mate, not just someone to snog. You think shopping is good fun, and you like getting new things, but you know there are more important things in life – buying every latest pair of shoes isn't always your priority! Unlike Clover you're a bit of a worrier sometimes – but sometimes you need to just put your fears behind you – don't be scared to go with the flow!

If your answers are mainly B:

You're a bit of both!!

You like to spend your time having fun with your pals, chilling out in the park, or swooning over Dermot O'Leary on the TV. You're a peace-loving type of person and hate it when you've had an argument with your best friend, you're always first to make up. Shopping is ok, but you know that the latest trend isn't the be all and end all – there are more important things in life! But you're not at all boring – you love going out and having a dance, the cheesier the music the better!

If your answers are mainly C:

You're a Clover clone!!

You're just like Clover – spirited, feisty and fun to be around. You're ambitious and like to reach for the stars, and why not? You can pretty much achieve anything that you put your mind to. You absolutely LOVE shopping; your idea of the perfect day is hitting the shops and buying loads of glam new things. And you love to solve people's problems too – if a friend's in a sticky situation you're the first in there to lend a hand. Just make sure not to get too carried away sometimes.
